Spring fun and games

Don't let the grass grow under your feet these school holidays, get out and enjoy some of the free activities on at Upper Hunter Regional libraries.

There's a focus on sustainability this time around. You can take part in an interactive and informative session with Sustainability St Officers about environment, plants, animals and waste. Check out some preserved insects and meet the new waste characters. Don't forget to bring your hat.

The workshops will be held in Muswellbrook and Denman on October 4. Check out www.uhrl.nsw.gov.au/ for the full schedule.

Mental health workshops raise awareness this October

Remember when suicide wasn't spoken about? Even newspaper reports omitted the detail because people were frightened it would create a wave of copy-cat suicides. We've since learnt that NOT talking about it doesn't work. Taking action to arm yourself with information and education does. As does communication.

October is Mental Health Month with the theme 'Share the Journey' and Upper Hunter Shire Council Mayor Wayne Bedgood said Council was committed to supporting upcoming mental health initiatives.

"There are suicide prevention workshops and motivational speakers regarding mental health, as well as mental health first aid courses," Cr Bedgood said.

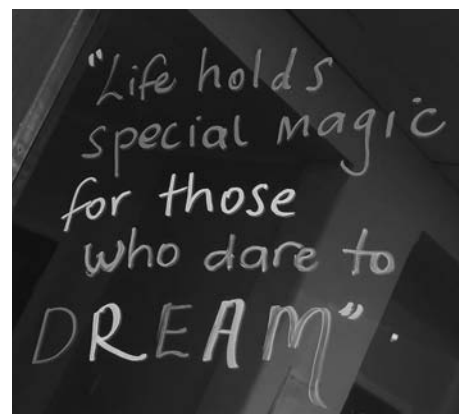

Tuesday, 3 October, features a workshop for young people with former NRL player and professional boxer Joe Williams at the Scone Youth Centre from 12-3pm. The Enemy Within, Suicide Prevention and Wellbeing Education workshops talk about adversity, struggle, personal battles, mental illness, addiction and improving attitude. The workshop will be supervised by Scone Youth Centre staff and is supported by Upper Hunter Community Services and BHP.

For details contact Youth Services Supervisor Mary Spora, 0439 090 391.

On Friday, 6 October, there is a free suicide prevention workshop run by Good SPACE – Suicide Prevention Courage Space Empathy – at UHSC Administration Building from 10am-2pm. Morning tea, lunch and refreshments are provided but RSVPs are requested by 2 October. Email Jess: jbaraket@gmail.com or call 0409 924 604.

Also throughout October, Upper Hunter Community Services is providing local schools with resources to run 'Positive Reflections' throughout October, a simple and effective way of promoting good mental health through the power of positive thinking. Positive Reflections works by selected students writing a positive quote on the bathroom mirrors in liquid chalk each morning throughout the month of October.

Also in Murrurundi, thanks to the tireless efforts of Where There's a Will, 23-24 October there is a Where There's a Will Mental Health First Aid course. There will also be one in Scone 28-29 October.

To view the respective information for these events please visit upperhunter.nsw.gov.au 'Hot Topics'.

Sharing Indigenous culture

From flying boomerangs, glittering dragonflies to shimmering grass skirts, there was plenty of Aboriginal culture to celebrate in Merriwa, Blandford and Murrurundi this month.

Students at Merriwa Central School, St Joseph's Primary School Merriwa, Murrurundi Public and Blandford Public as well as pre-schoolers from Merriwa Create and Grow Preschool and residents from Gummun Place hostel all took home plenty of crafty creations as part of a two-day tour of the Upper Hunter by Kamilaroi elder Dolly Jerome and Uncle Blue. This is the third year the couple have travelled to the Upper Hunter from Tenterfield to share Aboriginal culture and customs.

Judging by the warm reception the couple received from young and old alike, it's hoped this will be the start of many more visits to come.

Image: Kamilaroi elder Dolly Jerome shows Merriwa Central School students Mia Morgan, Zali Wallings, Eliza Parker, Ildiko Papp and Alyssa Carrall how to twist grass strands as part of a weaving workshop this month to celebrate Aboriginal culture.

It is nearly here!

The inaugural Bobadil House Spring Market will be held this Sunday 1 October on the grounds of the established art gallery, Michael Reid Murrurundi from 10am – 3pm, and entry is FREE. Showcasing a carefully-selected range of over 30 talented stallholders who will offer for sale quality, handmade, localish goods and fresh produce.

Also for enjoyment is a series of free mini workshops. Covering topics such as gardening hosted by local landscape gardening guru, Troy Van Balen, DIY 'Chalk Paint TM Decorative with Annie Sloan' hosted by Abbie Stone from Stone & Co plus cooking with local produce by Upper Hunter home grown chef, Stuart Whitby. The delightful Katie Godden will be joining our market stage to share her interesting food journey.

Live entertainment will be another feature with the local homegrown tunes and vocals of Chloe Hall plus Hugo Morgan.

Lots of activities for littles including lawn games courtesy of our event partner Ivory Lane Event Styling & Hire, archery with handcrafted wooden bow and flat-pointed arrows from FatJak & Co, free face painting with Sophie Jenkins, children's gardening demo plus 'Yarn Party' knitting workshops with yarn courtesy of the award winning Nundle Woollen Mill. Located close by will be the Pixie Patch stall offering for sale handmade pixie dolls and colourful handmade felt houses.

Gourmet morning/afternoon tea and lunch catering will be available from The Plains Pantry and Haydon Hall stall sites along with refreshments from Caffe Mobilita as well as ginger beer and homemade lemonade from the local Murrurundi Public School stall plus Hunter Belle Gelato. Don't miss your opportunity to try some local wines by visiting Linda Keeping from Two Rivers Wines.

Pick up some fresh local seasonal produce from the Patrice Newell Organic/Biodynamic Farm Produce, Four Acre Farm and the Co-op trading table along with award-winning condiments, dressings, vinegars, oils, jams, chutneys, sauces and relishes from the TAR10, Milnes of Mudgee and Liverpool Plains Produce Co stalls.

Freshen up your wardrobe with one-of-a-kind designer clothing, jewellery and accessories that will be on offer from talented stallholders;

KlusterBee, Boho Banjo Art To Wear, Perfectly Ordinary, FatJack & Co, Hettys Creations, Miss Trix plus our very own Big Brown Dog range. Repurposed, upcycled furniture will also be available for purchase from Jute & Honey, Country Farmhouse Furniture and Stone & Co along with home decor and soft furnishing creations from Lisa from the Corner of the Garden site and the combined talents of stallholders Jason Mowen and Sue Neale Designs. Gardening isn't forgotten with Cactus & Lace, Troy Van Balen and Melinda's Horseshoe Garden Art stalls.

Also being represented is The Nundle Natural Skin Solutions and Ducks Cottage skincare ranges, Amanda from Sophie Blue Dog Treats for cats and dogs and the Ivory Lane Event Styling + Hire stall site.

You simply can't miss this bountiful market. For more information please contact 0400099761 or amelia.wilkinson@michaelreid.com.au

Image: Josh Terras - NSW Training Awards winner.

TAFE NSW Apprentice of the Year

Lake Macquarie's Josh Terras was recognised as the Top Apprentice in Vehicle Trades at the NSW Training Awards in Sydney recently.

Josh studied for many years at TAFE NSW Kurri Kurri and now works as a plant mechanic for Komatsu Australia. He was one of 10 TAFE NSW winners at the ceremony. The prestigious awards, conducted by the NSW Department of Industry, recognise the many vocational education and training (VET) students, teachers, providers and employers working across the sector.

Have your say on flying-fox camp management

Upper Hunter Shire Council is seeking community views on flying-fox camp management plans for Murrurundi, Aberdeen and Scone.

Although the camps have moved on, if the flying-foxes return, the plans provide Council and the community a clear plan for their management. There are 59 known flying-fox camps in the Hunter and Central Coast region and currently no Council plans to cull or attempt to disperse entire camps as part of their management options. Grey-headed flying-foxes are listed as a vulnerable species and protected under federal law.

The camp management plans were prepared by Hunter Councils Environment Division in partnership with Council and with $5000 in funding from the NSW Department of Environment and Heritage. Community views on the flying-fox camps contributed to the plans through submissions, particularly submissions to the website survey, town meetings and individual meetings with impacted residents.

Written submissions are invited from members of the public, addressed to the General Manager and received by 5pm Friday 6 October 2017.

Submissions can be filled in online at www.upperhunter.nsw.gov.au/do-it-online/say-it/notice-of-public-exhibition-draft-flying-fox-camp-management-plans.aspx, posted to PO Box 208, Scone NSW 2337, or emailed to council@upperhunter.nsw.gov.au

Scholarships assist students to achieve

Fourteen students will be better able to pursue their career goals thanks to Hunter TAFE Foundation scholarships which were presented at a ceremony on 20 September.

Hunter TAFE Foundation is a not-for-profit organisation working with Hunter business, education and community leaders. It is committed to supporting education and training by providing financial support to TAFE NSW students studying in the Hunter and Central Coast regions who are experiencing either personal or financial hardship. Environmentally conscious fashion student Olivia Halle received the Moreen Edith Fashion Scholarship. Currently studying an Advanced Diploma of Applied Fashion Design and Technology, Miss Halle wants to produce pieces with maximum visual impact and minimal environmental impact.

Lifeguarding Australia

Extra services and activities will be on offer at all Upper Hunter Shire pools from October 2017, including water polo, squad training, aqua aerobics and specific programs for youth, children and seniors.

Lifeguarding Australia will manage Merriwa, Murrurundi and Scone pools for the next three years, having been awarded the contract by Upper Hunter Shire Council in July after a rigorous tender process. Under the new management, pool hours and existing services will not decrease, there will be more organised games and training, and family passes will be accepted at any of the three pools. Previously each of the three Upper Hunter Shire Pools had different management with different levels of service. All three pools are due to open on Sunday 1 October 2017, however Scone Memorial Swimming Pool may open later due to repairs currently underway.

Lifeguarding Australia is encouraging qualified locals to apply for positions at the Upper Hunter Shire pools by visiting www.lifeguarding.com.au/jobs/ To find out about training towards lifesaving qualifications email jobs@lifeguarding.com.au

MUSWELLBROOK CINEMA MOVIE REVIEW

FLATLINERS

Rated (M) 110 mins

Five medical students embark on a daring and dangerous experiment to gain insight into the mystery of what lies beyond the confines of life. The bold adventure begins when they trigger near-death experiences by stopping their hearts for short periods of time. As their trials become more perilous, each must confront the sins from their past while facing the paranormal consequences of journeying to the other side.

Further plans for Burdekin Park

The Cenotaph will not be removed from Singleton's Burdekin Park under any future plan for the historic site, as Singleton Council continues to encourage as many people as possible to put forward their ideas and feedback on the draft Plan of Management and landscape plans.

There is a concept to relocate the Cenotaph by a few metres to the centre of the park, to be the focus of gardens and pathways. But this is by no means a final decision and Council is interested in all the feedback it gets in relation to both the concept landscape plans and the draft Plan of Management for the park. The public exhibition period closed on Wednesday 27 September 2017. The closing date for submissions is Wednesday 11 October 2017.

The draft Plan of Management and draft landscape are available for viewing at www.singleton.nsw.gov.au/draftBurdekinParkPlan or Council's Administration Building, Singleton Library and Singleton Visitor Information and Enterprise Centre.

On the bus to Bottoms Up

If listening to live music, sampling craft beer, local wine, cider and delicious street food sounds like a good afternoon out – then jump on the festival bus and get to Simpson Park, Muswellbrook on Saturday, 21 October.

The Bottoms Up Festival kicks off at 1.30pm and – with a little forward planning – you can save on your entry ticket and travel safely to and from the event.

Buses will run from Singleton, Aberdeen and Scone during the festival and, to ensure a seat, buy your ticket online when you buy your entry ticket. Seats are limited - don't miss out.

Festival headliners Thundamentals will be joined in the line-up by Nicole Millar, Winston Surfshirt, Polish Club (pictured right), Australia and Raave Tapes for an afternoon and evening of brilliant music.

Tickets to the event and for the bus are available from www.bottomsupfest.com.au

SUPREME TALENT: Hailing from Maitland, Dave Wells (pictured) will join an upper echelon line-up of talent at this weekend's Dashville Skyline at Lower Belford. An amazing long weekend of music celebration presenting both national and international artists.

One more sleep 'til Dashville

Time is running out to get your tickets to Belford's Dashville Skyline festival on this October long weekend – the third year of this festival is set to be quite spectacular.

A huge range of alt-country and Americana acts are on the lineup including Dave Wells, one of the Hunter's finest songwriters. His impressive 2014 debut EP, Carrington Street, a heartfelt rumination on life growing up in Maitland, suggested a master craftsman, a writer adept in penning songs that creep up on you and cut deep. Now Wells is locked away in the studio to conjure a debut studio record, and live previews of tracks like 'Picasso's Cloud' and 'Run Free' indicate that the powerful vocalist is crafting a mesmerising collection for this new release.

To find out more about the festival including playing times and ticket availability jump online at dashville.com.au
