Water meter test results

Upper Hunter Shire Council has been in the process of conducting free testing of water meters for residents who believed their meter was over-reading their water usage during the summer quarter.

Of the 49 meters tested so far, 48 meters were determined to be working either correctly or under-reading in a few cases.

One meter was confirmed to be reading slightly higher than it should. Council has amended the resident's water invoice and replaced the meter.

Council has written to all the residents who have had their meters tested, to inform them of the results.

Max Watters: Last Bus to Riley Street – The Max Watters Preview Exhibition for 2018

Article courtesy of Art up Close @ Muswellbrook Regional Arts Centre

This year's preview of Max Watters' latest group of paintings will be the last to travel on from the Muswellbrook Regional Arts Centre to the Watters Gallery in Riley Street East Sydney. Sadly after 54 years the Watters Gallery will close at the end of 2018.

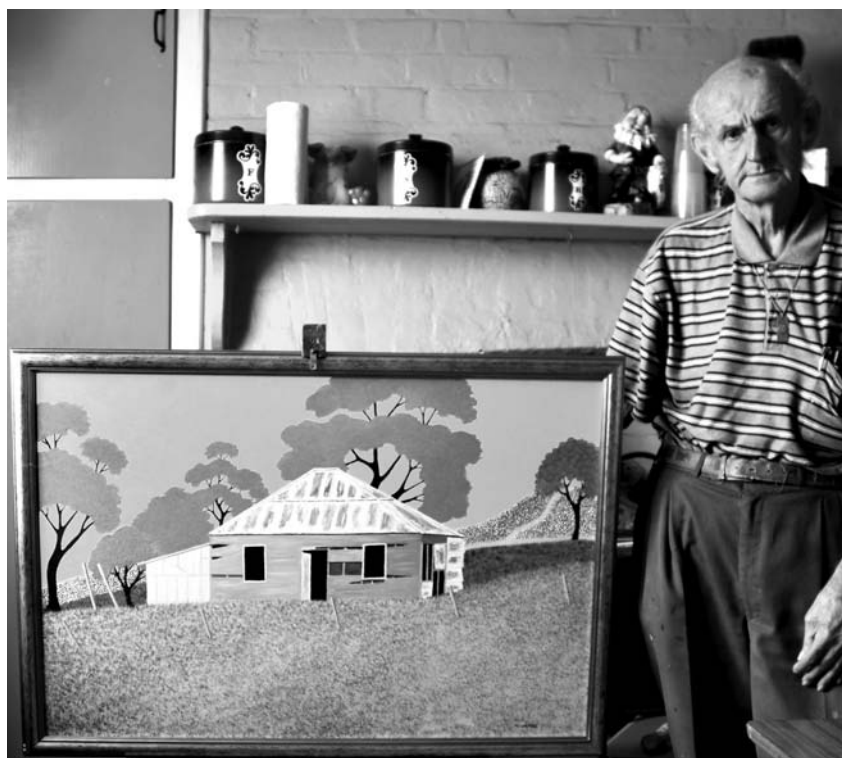

This is the end of an era for Australian art. The Watters Gallery has been at the forefront of the avant garde and the very best that Australian art has had to offer since its inception in 1964.

Max Watters held his first solo exhibition at the Watters Gallery in 1966 and has continued to exhibit there every year or two till the present.

The close connection between the Watters Gallery and its directors Alex and Geoffrey Legge and Frank Watters (Max's older brother) and the Muswellbrook Regional Arts Centre is directly related to the connection between Max and the Upper Hunter.

Max has been painting the built environment of the rural Upper Hunter since 1962 - this is his subject, it is what he loves and his paintings have recorded the slow demise of a bygone time of slab huts, Georgian architecture and bush carpentry.

The buildings Max has carefully rendered into his singular style of geometry and texture have reached the end of their natural life, every day another old building falls down, every day the questions about the future of the Upper Hunter mount up and Max Watters latest paintings reflect and ask these same questions. Exhibiting from 13 May to 1 July 2018. Upper Hunter Shire average general residential rate – lowest in Hunter Valley

Upper Hunter Shire has the largest land mass in the region, the second lowest number of ratepayers, and yet the lowest average residential general rate, according to the 2015/16 comparative data from the Office of Local Government.

The Office of Local Government is expected to release the 2016/17 comparative data soon. At 8,096km² Upper Hunter Shire is covering a considerably larger area than any of our eight southern neighbours.

At the same time, there is a relatively small population of ratepayers in the Upper Hunter Shire, providing one of the lowest residential rates revenue in the region.

Despite these challenges, Upper Hunter Shire average residential rates for 2015/16 were $714.31, much lower than the $971 average across the other eight shires.

Big Brown Dog Café to bring big things

Michael Reid Murrumbidgee's Big Brown Dog Café will reopen on 25 May under the stewardship of the dynamic Cathy Armstrong.

With over 30 years of experience, Cathy has cooked for luminaries such as Prince, Cher, Diana Ross, Paul Simon, Bonnie Raitt and David Byrne of Talking Heads during her stint in rock 'n' roll catering.

Cathy has worked extensively overseas and upon her return to Australia she opened Greens Café in Bondi, which was listed as one of Sydney's top 10 Cafes by The Sydney Morning Herald and also created the award-winning Princess Pantry range of jams and preserves.

Cathy and her husband moved to Little Kickerbell at Pine Ridge in early 2017, where they offer residential art workshops, events and boutique accommodation.

WELCOME: Cathy Armstrong (pictured) will take over the reins of the Big Brown Dog Café at Michael Reid Murrumbidgee on 25 May.

Safe kitchen rules

A free online and interactive food safety training program is now available through the Upper Hunter Shire Council website.

Called 'I'm Alert Food Safety' this program from Environmental Health Australia is presented in an interactive, easy to follow, and entertaining format. All you need is a device with internet access and sound.

There is high demand for training within the food sector, so this could be invaluable in your current job, or getting hired for the job you want. This training program will assist managers in ensuring all staff are trained, reducing any risk of food borne illness resulting from poor food handling practices.

It is recommended that all food handlers take part in this training. This is a great opportunity to provide staff with training that would otherwise cost money and a great deal more in time.

Devil Ark is celebrating Tora's birthday

The Barrington Tops Devil Ark is celebrating the 1st birthday of one of its cheekiest Tasmanian devils, Tora.

Tora was hand raised by Devil Ark supervisor Kelly Davis. Tora is not only a new and energetic addition to their program, but she plays a very important role in raising awareness as one of their ambassador devils.

In between running amuck and having fun like a young devil does, she also attends many of the external events for Devil Ark including local shows, fetes and schools.

The public can visit Tora and the 150 devils that call Devil Ark home during scheduled tours of the facility with all funds raised going back into the not-for-profit breeding program to save the endangered species. Images are courtesy of Aussie Ark.

Building better bridges

The new bigger, better and safer Middlebrook Bridge in Scone was officially opened recently. The new stronger and wider bridge provides a safer or more direct route for the transport of agricultural goods, mineral resources, large tourist vehicles, horses, emergency vehicles, school buses, and local families.

It has a higher load limit and two lanes to accommodate the growth of traffic movement through the region and will make it easier and safer to transport livestock and other freight along the Middlebrook Road, as well as making it a more attractive route for tourists, particularly those in RVs or coaches.

Image: Landowners, Council staff and the contractors Waeger Constructions attended the ribbon cutting of the new Middlebrook Bridge for the official opening by the Hon Barnaby Joyce MP Federal Member for New England, Upper Hunter MP Michael Johnsen and Upper Hunter Shire Deputy Mayor Maurice Collison.

Scone Cup Carnival delivers exceptional racing

Over 11,000 racegoers braved the cool and windy weather to witness outstanding racing across the two days of the Darley Scone Cup Carnival.

Hunter Valley trainers fared very well with Rod Northam, Rodney Ollerton, Stephen Jones, Kris Lees and Paul Perry, all taking home wins throughout with former Scone trainer Peter Snowden coming home to win the Inglis Guineas with Moss Trip adding to the local success.

Crowd favourite Gai Waterhouse taking home the Darley Scone Cup on Friday with Sedanzer was another highlight, though the standout performance was that of the Tracey Bartley stable winning 3 races with his only 3 runners over the Carnival....amazing effort.

Scone Race Club CEO Heath Courtney said, "The Club is thrilled and grateful with the attendance numbers and the quality of racing, particularly under such trying weather conditions, again proving the Scone track as a premier racing facility in NSW. Our new-look entry and food precinct was a huge hit, along with our young trumpet player Jack Herden from Tamworth drawing everyone's attention to the mounting enclosure pre-race with his very live "fanfare" rendition.

We look forward to providing other exciting new activations to our Carnival next year, adding further value to our patrons experience.

On behalf of the Scone Race Club and wider Scone community, I would sincerely like to thank our valued sponsors who without their ongoing support, this outstanding community event and showcase of our region would not be possible."

Rock royalty takes centre stage at Singleton Library

It's a long way to the top, but finally the story of legendary rocker Angus Young has made it to bookshelves – and Singleton.

Renowned author Jeff Apter has cast the spotlight on the man best known for his trademark schoolboy outfit in High Voltage: the life of Angus Young – AC/DC's last man standing and he'll bring the story to Singleton Library in a special event on Friday 25 May from 5.30pm to 7pm.

Nicole Lonsdale, Singleton Council's Coordinator Community Services, said it was an exciting addition to the Library's program of author visits.

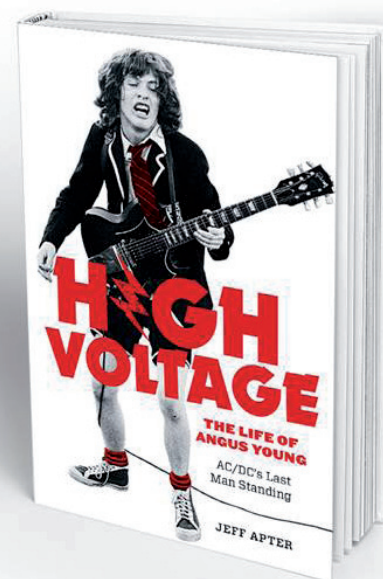

Angus Young is one of the most iconic musicians in the world and the last surviving original member of AC/DC – the biggest rock band on the planet," she said.

"Jeff Apter's book is the first biography to focus exclusively on the endurance of Angus, charting his rise from working-class Glasgow and Sydney through to the death of vocalist Bon Scott and the forced retirement of his brother, Malcolm Young.

Ms Lonsdale said Jeff Apter, the author of more than 20 books and who spent four years on staff at Australian Rolling Stone, was himself an interesting speaker.

"Jeff has carved a niche in capturing the stories of musical history, with biographies of the Finn brothers, Johnny O'Keefe, the Bee Gees, Marc Hunter, 'Shirley' Strachan, Silverchair and Keith Urban," she said.

Bookings are essential on 02 6578 7500. Copies of High Voltage: the life of Angus Young – AC/DC's last man standing will be available for sale and signing at the event.
